

Chapter 1

The world has a bright orange sky and the ground is reddish orange. Evil soldiers that are humanoid and have long cigars sticking out of their mouths roam the streets with their weapons. Jason and Mason are sweaty and they are wearing blue pants and white undershirts that are covered in sweat. Jason and Mason are armed with two rifles. They run past these soldiers and they shoot some of them down and they retreat. Jason and Mason run through the burning remains of San Francisco. They see their destroyed house and they run for a hole in the bottom of a tree. Jason and Mason slide into the ground. They reunite with other people that are also fighting these weird soldiers. Mason said, "Our chances of seeing more days to come are very low. We need a miracle at this point if we are going to put those alien invaders to justice."

A Few Days Earlier...

On a planet with a dark green sky, a conference is held and the people that attend are humanoid aliens. One of the aliens is wearing a decorated uniform and he is giving a speech to the people in the conference room. He said, "I called all of us here to discuss a threat not only to us but to the people of this planet and the people on the planet known as, earth. Three years ago, we sent our greatest negotiator, Arquanis to this planet of earth to get the people on this planet to take our side in our war with the Kiron people. Arquanis made some friends with a few of the people on earth and he was certain that he could claim this planet under the authority of our planet, Zorkon. However, he was stopped by a boy-genius called, Mason. Mason was smart enough to figure out Arquanis' plot and he managed to turn his brother and the rest of the world against him. Arquanis is sitting in a testing lab somewhere in Washington D.C. on earth. We need to rescue him and stop this Mason from hindering our progress anymore than he already has. We have reason to believe the earth is at danger because of him. Over a year ago, Mason experimented with an ancient orb and it caused the dead to rise from the grave. The world was thrown into chaos and the people barely survived. If we let Mason continue to do these dangerous experiments, us and earth are in great danger." One of the aliens at the conference said, "Do you have a new plan for attack to conquer earth? Is that why you called us all here?" The alien making the speech said, "I do have a new plan for attack. We are not going to secretly take over the earth like we did before. We are going to downright attack earth and subjugate their people in war if we have to. This is what the Kiron people have done to us and people on earth in their history have done the same. I say this will work. We will conquer earth this time and we will win our war with the Kiron people." Everyone stands up and saluted the speaker.

Chapter 2

Jason sits on his couch and he plays a first-person shooter on the Gamestation system. Mason walks in the room and he said, "Playing that goofy game again?" Jason said, "This is the greatest video game I had ever played. The graphics are out of this world and the music is incredible. I never would have guessed that music in a game would sound this good. I guess that is how it is for CD based entertainment." Mason said, "Remember when I told you I was going to pursue an art career?" Jason said, "I think I did." Mason said, "Come outside and see my latest creation." Jason goes out into the backyard and he sees a large statue of Mason. Jason said, "You made this thing?" Mason said, "I used a new material I just recently discovered. It is supposed to last until the end of time." Jason said, "This looks decent but would it actually last until the end of time?" Mason said, "I have no idea. We are not going to be around to see the end of time."

Mason sits still and he admires his work of art. Jason goes back into his bedroom and he turns on the radio. He hears Christmas music playing. Jason said, "It is November. Why are they playing Christmas music?" Jason changes the station and every station he gets is playing the same Christmas music. Jason throws the radio out the window. Jason still hears radio sounds. Jason said, "I destroyed my radio and I still hear sounds of it. Wait a minute, that is not my radio." Jason goes outside and he feels the ground shaking. Jason said, "Another earthquake?" Mason does not notice any of it because he is staring at his statue. Jason and Mason stand through the earthquake and it stops. Jason walks back inside and Mason continues to stare at his statue.

Jason and Mason sit around the TV in the evening and they eat Chinese food. A female news anchor said, "Hello, I am George Ferrier of DDD News. In today's news, aliens were spotted flying over Washington D.C.. We do not know if this is a joke or if this is real. News-crews are parked everywhere in Washington while they take shots of this alien star-ship. In other less significant news, a parrot used his beak to pick up a paint brush and use it to paint. He paints walls for houses. The parrot says he wants to start his own painting service." The Parrot said, "I pick up the brush and I paint the walls, like so." Jason said, "I wonder what it would be like to have a parrot like that." Mason said, "It may seem fascinating at first but he would get annoying over time. He may get to a point where he never shuts up." George Ferrier said, "Breaking news, the aliens in Washington have stepped out of the star-ship and they demand to speak to the president." The alien is humanoid and he is wearing a uniform with decorated medals on it. Jason and Mason look at each other as if they are both experiencing painful memories. The alien on the screen said, "I am General Phazon. I am from the planet, Zorkon and I only came here to reclaim what was stolen from me three years ago and to settle the score with the genius you call, Mason."

Mason said, "They are still after me. If this is what I think it is, there is more to this than what that alien is saying." Jason said, "Remember when you used your grapple hook to clamp onto the helicopter and you flew around the city and you hit cars and buildings? That was funny." Mason said, "Remember when they altered your brain so you would become a mindless slave for them?" Jason said, "If I ever see that Arquanis guy again, I will kick his butt so hard his grandchildren will have concave butts." Mason said, "He probably will not ever have grandchildren if those people in Washington keep torturing him."

It is the next day and the aliens are still stationed over Washington. The US army forces show up and they patrol the streets. They wait for the aliens to make their next move. The people in the White House gather in the president's office and they discuss the matter. One of the president's men said, "I will protect you at all costs." The president said, "I don't think they are after me. They said they came for someone named, Mason. We cannot have these illegal aliens hover over the nation's capital. Maybe we can find this, Mason person and have the two of them sort out whatever it is that needs to be sorted out and they may leave and earth could be safe." One of the men in the office said, "What if this plan fails?" The president said, "I will send my greatest attack force to neutralize them."

Mason is typing something out on a computer and he hears the doorbell ring. Mason goes to the front door and he sees who it is. It is two tall strong men with black sunglasses in black suits. Mason said, "Can I help you?" One of the men said, "I am looking for the one you call, Mason." Mason said, "I am the one they call, Mason." The men in black said, "You can come with us." They grab onto Mason's arms and they force him out of the house and into a limo. Mason said, "This is against my freewill. I demand an explanation." One of the men in black said, "We need you for a matter of national security." Mason said, "Is this a concern regarding some of my dangerous experiments?" One of the men in black said, "The president has requested you to be in Washington today because the aliens over the capital want you for some reason. We are doing as they request so we have a good chance of making peace with them."

Mason said, "I know who these aliens are. They altered my twin brother's brain so he would work for them as if he were a mindless drone. These aliens almost conquered the earth because of my brother. They also ailed with my rival, Keith. You cannot give me to these aliens. I am the reason why they did not take over the earth. Arquanis rests in your laboratory because of me. They want revenge on me. I have one of the most powerful minds in the world. You cannot just give me up like this." One of the men in black said, "You have a point. We will give you to the president then and he will decide on your fate."

Mason is thrown into the president's office in Washington D.C.. Mason said, "We were just in San Francisco a few moments ago. How did we get here so quickly?" One of the guards said, "Ancient Chinese secret." Mason confronts the president. The president said, "Mason, you are just the one I want to see." Mason said, "It is unfair for you to just hand me over to these aliens that want to kill me." The president said, "You seem so certain about that. Why would you decline such an offer to see aliens?" Mason said, "I do not trust evil maniacs that try to take over the world and try to take over my twin brother too." The president said, "I don't want you harmed. I just want the country to be safe and it will be safe when these aliens get what they demand." Mason said, "They are not going to leave. When they have me, they will use me for some sort of invasion force and they will start a war with us. How could you be so ignorant to people like me. I am your people. I thought you would be a great president. But I guess I was wrong if this is how you are going to treat madmen that start wars. I should have routed for Bob Dole instead." The president said, "That's enough. I am giving you to the aliens and that is final."

Many guards stand under the alien space-craft and they are holding Mason. A beam of light from the ship shines on Mason and Mason dematerializes and rematerializes in a giant futuristic space vessel. He sees General Phazon and he said, "Mr. Mason sir, it is an honor that you show up as we demanded." Mason said, "I am prepared to deal with you this time. I have dealt with you before and I will most certainly foil any plan you wish to plot against me or my brother or anyone else in the world.” Phazon said, “I don't want to hurt you. I just want to settle an unfinished score.” Mason said, “What would that be?” Phazon said, “I am going to contain you in this green glass cylinder where we will view all the information on earth we can get. I will use this to plan an invasion on earth so we can use this planet as a storage area and a training ground for our military so we can beat the Kiron and we will be the greatest superpower in the galaxy.” Mason said, “I knew this cannot be good.”

Mason runs away from Phazon and he smashes a glass weapon storage on the wall. Alien soldiers come running for Mason and he takes out one of their rifles. He fires on the soldiers and he shoots some of them down. He hides behind a counter and he pans his eyes around the place to see if there is a way to get out of the ship. He sees a button on the wall that said, “Emergency Landing.” Mason runs and presses the button. The ship begins to shake and the ship starts to lose its orbit and it falls to the ground. It falls and lands safely on the ground in front of the White House. Mason shoots a window and glass shatters everywhere. Mason runs through the window.

Chapter 4

Mason runs back to the White House and he said to the men in black, “I told you this was not a good idea. They want to use me for their invasion of the earth.” The men in black said, “We will alert the president right away.” The alien ship begins to take off and it fires a large beam at the White House. The roof of the White House disappears. The president runs to a different room and he sees Mason again. Mason said, “I told you they want war.” The president said, “I guess I have no choice but to declare war with the Zorkon people.”

Jason is sitting down eating popcorn and watching stupid cartoons on TV. His show is interrupted with a message from the president. The president appears on the screen and he said, “Good day fellow Americans. I am the president of the United States of America. Since the beginning of our country we have fought wars against people that opposed this beautiful country for which we all stand for. It is time yet again that we fight a new evil threat that opposes, America. This is an alien race of people from the planet, Zorkon. They wish to invade our planet of earth. We will not let them proceed with this insidious plot against our way of life. We will strike a mighty blow against them and save our beautiful race from extinction. The call to arms is now and I hope all of you will be at our side as we embark on this dangerous mission. Many will die, but it is all worth it for our cause to save the people of earth.”

Jason said, “A war with these people? They should have done this three years ago. This may have saved me a lot of pain and suffering. I wonder if Mason had anything to do with this.” The phone rings and Jason picks it up. Mason said, “Jason it is me, Mason. I am alright but we have a problem. The Zorkon people want to use my mind to plot an invasion of earth. The president has become aware of the situation and he has declared war on the people of Zorkon. We are slightly to blame for this because our actions have made them angry at us in particular.” Jason said, “I will arm myself and the two of us will fight off these invaders. I never thought I would see a war happen in my own backyard.”

Mason is in the president's office and the roof is missing. Mason stares outside at the ship flying in the sky. He sees military tanks and other army soldiers getting ready to open fire at the alien invaders. Mason said, “Their technology is far different than ours. Shooting metal balls at them is not going to kill them.” The president said, “What else can you think off?” Mason said, “I forced my rival to tell me their secrets so I broke into their stronghold and I crippled their defenses. I then had to fight Arquanis in a robot suit he built with earth technology. That's it. Arquanis is supposedly kept in one of your laboratories. If we can find him, I would like to speak to him. He may know something about this invasion force. I could force information from him so we will make him help us take down his own people.” The president said, “I am sure he is the kind of person that would rather die than tell you how to stop his own invasion force.” Mason said, “That's true. I know there has to be a way to stop these aliens.”

Alien shuttle pods land on the surface outside of the White House and they open up. Weird looking soldiers come out of the pods. These soldiers are humanoid and they have short round heads with long cigars sticking out of their mouths. These soldiers have guns and they fire at the US soldiers. The US soldiers fire back and they shoot down most of the soldiers that were deployed. More soldiers walk out of the pods and they start shooting at US soldiers. Mason said, “I did steal one of their weapons. You could have your engineers do reverse engineering on it and find out how it is made and how we can build more of these.”

The secret services come in and they said, “Mr. President, we need to move you to a safer location. Mason sticks with the president and they head for an armored truck and they get in it. They drive away from Washington. Mason said, “I request you drive me back to San Francisco since it is where I live.” The driver said, “I am taking us to Arkansas. The president ran that state once like a well oiled machine.” Mason said, “I am not going to fight you. I have done enough of that today.” Mason grabs his cellphone and he calls Jason. Jason picks up the phone and he said, “Hello.” Mason said, “It is me again. I am being brought over to Arkansas for some reason. You can probably take a train there or something. I want us to be together for this.” Jason said, “Understood. I will head over there and you can fill me in on more information later on.” Mason said, “I will. We will reunite then.”

Chapter 5

Mason gets off the armored truck at a depot in Arkansas. Jason is there waiting for him. Jason said, “You got to meet the president?” Mason said, “Yes I have.” The president walks out and he said, “Am I seeing double?” Mason said, “This is my twin brother, Jason.” Jason and the president shake hands. Jason said, “I never thought I would get to see you on something that is not a TV.” Mason said, “We have far more serious matters at this moment. We will be sent to some military briefing room where we will discuss our plan for the invasion force.”

In Washington D.C., aliens are flying around in flying saucers and they are firing ray beams down on the city. General Phazon lands on earth in his shuttle. A soldier reports to General Phazon. The soldier said, "Sir, we have checked the city and there is no sign of the president nor, Mason." Phazon said, "Tear this city apart until you find them. I want all my men to tear this world apart until they are found and brought to me." The soldier said, "This world has many things to offer. I don't know where to start. It could be years before we find them." Phazon said, "Find them by tomorrow or I will make you into my next foot stool."

Jason looks out the window of the president's shelter. Tanks are driving through the streets and soldiers are stationed on every street. Mason said, "Bringing a large army of soldiers to this place may not be a good idea. The aliens are looking for a stronghold where you might be hiding at. They may see there is strong military activity in this city so they will attack this city." The president said, "I need all the protection I can get if I want to survive this." Mason said, "Don't go crying to me when the aliens find us and suck out my brains." Jason said, "Do you think they will send more battleships from their planet as reinforcements? I am pretty sure they are looking for you in particular, Mason." Mason said, "These people are unpredictable. I am sure they may do something we never would guess is possible."

The aliens patrol the streets in the United States. They drive robot battle armor around the streets to look for Mason. An alien is in the control room of the battle armor and he is looking at the computer in the robot. The computer has a sample of Mason's DNA. They are using it to find Mason's DNA signature. The alien points the robot in a certain direction and the computer said, "Target in direction." The alien proceeds to move in that direction. He picks up his communicator and he sends a message to the Zorkon forces.

Chapter 6

Mason is sitting behind a light-switch. They hear gunfire coming from outside the shelter. Mason said, "We better hide." Mason flicks the switch off and they all hide under the beds. The aliens use a fusion cutter to cut the thick metal door down so they can proceed. They have large black rifles and they have bright lights on them that rapidly flash. Jason, Mason, and the president are blinded by the flashing lights. They remain still under the beds. They tear the place apart and they do not find anything. An alien said, "We checked the whole place and there is no sign of, Mason." Another alien said, "Did you check under the beds?" The alien checks under the beds and he find Mason and his allies. The alien said, "There he is." The aliens grab Mason and his allies and they are brought to a shuttle that flies into the battleship in the sky over Washington.

Jason said, "I am still blind." Mason said, "I think all of us are." The president is being sent to a cylindrical chamber that is being filled with a dark red liquid. Jason and Mason are on a moving board and they are being sent to an unknown fate. They are placed in front of, General Phazon. Phazon said, "Jason and Mason, I am glad you can attend." Mason said, "Attend what?" Phazon said, "You are in a mother-ship from Zorkon. We have established a bridge between your planet and ours through a wormhole we discovered. It leads from one side of the galaxy to the other. You will be brought to Zorkon where you will learn about our living conditions. You will then feel sympathetic to our cause. We will then capture your earth and use it as a stronghold for our war against the Kiron people that want our planet.” Mason said, “You’re crazy. You can never win against earth by capturing us. We will prevail and you will be sent to justice like what we did to Arquanis.” Phazon said, “Arquanis has already been saved. He is on this ship right now recovering from the anguish he has endured for the last three years.”

Jason and Mason can see out the walls of the ship since they are made out of transparent glass. Jason and Mason see earth as they leave and they see the wormhole that leads to the other end of the galaxy. Mason said to Jason, “What if the wormhole implodes when we are on Zorkon? We will be stuck on the other end of the galaxy.” Jason said, “That sounds like, Space Wreck Traveler.” Mason said, “There would be no way to get back home for us. We would have to live on Zorkon.” Jason said, “How good is their food?”

Jason and Mason are sent down in a shuttle and they land on the surface. The planet looks like Mars. The ground is orange and red and there is red dust that makes the sky orange. Jason and Mason look around the planet with Phazon as a guide. Jason and Mason see Zorkon people dressed in robes and they are sitting around a fire in a barrel. They pick through the garbage to find any food. Phazon said, “Many homes were destroyed in this war because of the Kiron. Most of the surviving homes were bought by our army so most civilians on our planet are homeless.” Most of the streets look destroyed and buildings are on fire. Mason said, “How long has this war been going on for?” Phazon said, “For what you would call, two decades. We were winning the war at first. Then the tables turned. The Kiron wanted to dominate the planetary system and we wanted to remain independent from their control. They did not take no for an answer so they surrounded our planet and they sent their forces to seize the peaceful life we all had. They went blitzkrieg on us and we lost most of our great heroes. They have been doing this to us for years and we were just about to declare defeat. This all changed when one of our scientists traveled into space and used a nuclear detonation which created a hole in space. Our space teams traveled into this hole and we discovered your planet, earth. Our engineers are still smart and they can construct new weapons and space-craft to use in the war. We attempted to capture your planet and I am sure you know the rest.”

Mason said, “If these Kiron people really are as evil as you say they are then we would gladly assist you in fighting them off so you can live in peace. You never had to take over the earth. You know we are smart and we have what it takes to beat our adversaries. We could join you and help you win your cause. You would have your planet and we would have ours and it would be a win win situation for all of us.” Phazon said, “That sounds promising but how can I trust that you would not kidnap me like you did to, Arquanis?” Mason said, “High officials on earth listen to me. They take my word. You are not bad. You just hit a few walls. All of us hit a few walls at some point in our lives.” Phazon said, “I like the way you think. Unfortunately, I cannot accept your offer. I know the Kiron are too powerful for you. So I will do what I think is best.” Phazon pulls out a ray gun and he blasts Jason and Mason with the ray gun. Jason and Mason fall to the ground and Phazon orders his men to take them to some unknown place.

Mason sees himself in the mother-ship and he sees the ship is heading to an orange planet. Mason is forced into a shuttle and the shuttle flies down to the surface and it lands. Mason gets out and he sees the dry desert land. Mason said, "Why was I brought here? I guess if I explore the place for a bit I might find out." Mason walks through the grit and dust on the ground. He sees a 50's diner with the lights still on. The title of the place reads, "Joe's Burger and Shake Diner." Mason looks in the place and it appears to be fully functioning. Mason walks in and he takes a seat at the counter. The clerk said, "What will you have?" Mason said, "I will have a cheeseburger and a strawberry milkshake." The clerk said, "That's $1.25." Mason said, "That cheap?" Mason grabs out a few coins and he pays for his food. Mason sits at a leather booth and he sips his milkshake and he digs into his cheeseburger.

Mason leaves the diner and he continues heading down the path that looks like nowhere. There are no signs of civilization. Mason sees a small river and he sees some tombstones sticking up by the river. Mason looks at one of them and it said, "Lord Von Voldaveux, 1875 – 1888." Mason said, "Could this be a coincidence?" Mason continues on his journey. He sees an abandoned carnival and typical carnival music is playing.

Mason walks through the carnival and he sees houses. They look old and run-down. Mason said, "These houses look like houses in my neighborhood. Only they are old and degraded." Mason sees that some of the houses are downright destroyed. Mason roams the area some more and he sees something incredible and disturbing. He sees half a sphere made out of glass with science and technology equipment inside. Mason looks around the place and he sees a statue of himself. It is the same one that he made earlier on. Mason punches the ground and he said, "You maniacs! Look at what you have done! Why could you not just live together in peace with us. Why did you have to go to such extremes. Please, why, why, why!" Mason sits down with his knees jabbed into the ground and his head tilted in front of him.

Phazon walks beside Mason and he said, "I see you feel the impact of this scenario." Mason said, "What do you mean?" Phazon said, "This is all a simulation. If this war we have going on continues, this is what earth would look like in a hundred years. Your statue survived because it is made out of some of the most strongest materials in the world. Most of these houses and other buildings did not survive because they were simply not built to survive long periods of time." Mason said, "So where am I exactly?" Phazon said, "You are in a Zorkon testing facility. You are being tested and probed to see how you deal with such situations. We need to know this so we can figure out your character's strengths and weaknesses. We know what to put you through now. We are going to make you fight in our war."

Mason stands up and Phazon grabs onto his arm and drags him somewhere. Mason is dragged out of the virtual reality machine and he is brought to the testing lab. Mason sees Zorkon scientists mixing chemicals and some of them cause explosions as a result. Mason sees an assembly line where new soldiers are being manufactured and they are on a convert-belt. Mason said, "Your soldiers are robots?" Phazon said, "Precisely. We have lost most of our military population in this war. We are running low on soldiers. We invented these artificial soldiers so they will fight for us and we will not have to lose any more of our people. These robots are faster and stronger and they have infrared detection. Mason said, "Why do they have cigars mounted to the sides of their heads?" Phazon said, "So they look like your soldiers. Don't your soldiers smoke cigars while fighting?" Mason said, "Yes they do but they are not that long and they do not stick out of the sides of their head." Phazon said, "Well it looks like there is a distinction then."

An alarm goes off in the base and red lights flash. A voice over the intercom said, "Kiron forces have entered the lab!" Mason said, "What are we going to do?" Phazon hands Mason a rifle and he said, "Use this weapon and take out whatever Kiron you see." Mason stands still and he aims the rifle at various parts of the lab. Zorkon soldiers take their battle stations and they shoot down Kiron forces. The Kiron send in more troops and they plow down the Zorkon forces. Kiron troops enter the lab and they look into the testing facility for the new soldiers. New soldiers spot the Kiron and they fire at them. Mason is hiding behind a wall. Mason watches as the new soldiers attempted to take down the Kiron. The Kiron destroy all of the new soldiers. Mason hides behind the wall and he twitches and rattles in fear. A Kiron commander said, "I know you are here. You cannot hide from us. We would love to have you as an ally. Come on, Mason, you cannot hide forever." Mason thought to himself, "What if these people really are the bad guys. Bad guys never stay true to their claims." Mason gets up and he sees the soldiers and they look back at him. The soldiers said, "There he is. Get him." Mason opens fire on the soldiers and he shoots a few of them down. He dodges more of their shots and he shoots down more of them.

Mason stares at the downed Kiron soldiers on the floor and he said, "How could I have done all of this?" Mason sees Jason walking past the downed Kiron. Mason said, "Jason, where were you?" Jason said, "I am fine. These Zorkon people really are at an incredible disadvantage in their war. We need to let them have earth so they can do what ever dastardly deeds they plan to accomplish." Mason said, "You are not Jason. You are not my twin. Where is he and what have you done with him?" Jason said, "I am your twin. I came to my senses and I will begin to fight against those who stand in the way of the Zorkon and their glory." Mason said, "You are a sick man. If you are going to fight me, I will have no choice but to fight against you."

Chapter 8

Jason jumps in the air and he kicks Mason in the face. Jason lands and he quickly kicks Mason in the face again. Mason tries to fire on Jason but Jason kicks the rifle out of Mason's hands. Mason said, "He's using the moves he learned from an ancient Chinese master. He used these to save me once and it looks like he is using them against me." Jason throws a punch and Mason grabs onto Jason's fist and Mason turns around Jason and he grabs onto the back of him and he flips Jason over. Jason said, "I do not tolerate those that betray the things I stand for." Mason said, "You are not Jason. Jason is not that sophisticated." Mason runs through the training ground. He sees a fallen newspaper stand. Mason grabs onto it and he throws the small box at Jason. It does nothing. Mason sees some buildings with multiple different levels. Mason runs into one of the buildings and he heads for the stairs and he walks to the rooftop of the building. Jason follows him to the top. Mason walks to the edge of the building and Jason sees him there.

Jason said, "This is over. You are going to fall off that precipice and meet your ultimate end. I never thought you would have ended like this." Mason said, "Try me." Jason runs for the edge and he jumps and throws his leg in front as he is getting ready to attack Mason. Mason crouches down and he kicks the back of Jason's leg. Jason is close to the edge. Mason jumps into Jason and Jason falls off the edge. Mason grabs onto the side of the building and Jason hits a balcony and he falls off of it and hits another balcony. Jason falls on the ground and he rolls over a bit.

Mason runs to Jason and he said, "Are you alright?" Jason said, "I think I am fine. We need to stop these Zorkon bozos from destroying humanity." Mason said, "I know we need to stop them. Jason said, "Remember the last time we fought against the Zorkon and Arquanis fooled me into falling for his ways?" Mason said, "Of course I remember that." Jason said, "As you may also remember, he placed a device into my brain and it allowed him to control me. That device was never removed from my brain. It has been sitting in there for the last three years. They can take control of by brain at any given moment. They must have lost control when I fell. They will regain control and I will be against you again. You must do something." Mason said, "When we get back to earth, I will use my advance technology I refuse to give anyone else to create sonic brainwaves. I can use them to destroy the mind-control device they placed into your brain." Jason said, "That's good."

Jason and Mason find a way out of the training ground and they head back into the lab that was attacked by the Kiron. Jason said, "The Kiron mangled this place." Phazon stands behind Jason and Mason and he said, "Congratulations, Mason. You have past my tests." Mason said, "This was all a test?" Phazon said, "It most certainly was." Mason said, "The part where the Kiron attacked the lab and the part where you made me fight Jason again?" Phazon said, "All of it." Mason said, "You are a foul alien. I wish I could call you a man but I cannot associate you with the great people that live on my planet. Let's get out of here, Jason." Jason said, "You said it." Jason and Mason head for the front door and Phazon reaches for his communicator. Mason quickly turns around and he shoots the communicator out of Phazon's hand. Mason said, "I am not stupid. I know what you are planning to do." Jason and Mason head out the front door.

Chapter 9

Jason and Mason run out of the lab and Zorkon tanks and soldiers are after them. Mason said, "We need to find the president and bring him to safety. We need to figure out how to control one of their star-ships so we can get out of here and return to earth." Jason said, "I saw them place the president into a cylinder filled with a red liquid." Mason said, "They may have moved him since then. I know, There is likely to be a data base in their ship. If I can figure out how to use it, We may be able to use it to find the president and find the coordinates of the wormhole."

Mason shoots down a soldier that stands in their way. Jason grabs his rifle and Jason and Mason start going crazy and they shoot down all of the Zorkon soldiers they see. Soldiers pop up behind walls and buildings and other structures. Jason uses his quick moving skills to blast the alien robots before they blast them. Mason spots the alien ship landed in a docking bay by a lake. Mason said, "I see the ship. Follow me. Keep your eyes peeled for more alien soldiers." Mason runs and Jason provides cover. Jason and Mason run through an army depot filled with gadgets and guns. Mason said, "If we have time we should make sure we have as many of their gadgets as we can hold. We may be needing them for defeating them.” More soldiers that guard the depot start shooting at Jason and Mason. One of the soldiers is a decorated officer. Jason and Mason start shooting all of the soldiers down. Mason said, “I am not an expert of their security but I say we may need some kind of identification to gain access and take control of the ship. We will steal the body of that soldier with the medals.” Jason said, “Agreed.”

Jason and Mason shoot down the decorated robotic officer and Mason climbs up a ladder to the catwalk he was standing on. Mason grabs the robot and he brings it down to the star-ship. Jason said, “Look how easy these guys went down. Is this what passes for advanced military skills on this planet?” Mason holds the body of the decorated robot officer to the entrance of the star-ship and the door opens. Jason and Mason head inside and they see what they saw earlier when they were brought to the planet. Jason said, “Do you think this place has any food or drinks?” Mason said, “I would not be thinking of that right now.” Jason and Mason head for the front of the star-ship and they turn the ship on. The computers turn on and the systems activate.

Mason looks at the computer controls and he does not know heads or tails of what buttons to press or what commands need to be entered. Jason runs up to the computer and he rapidly presses buttons. Mason said, “You know how to work one of these things?” Jason said, “No, I am just pressing random buttons.” Mason said, “Well try to look for details or clues that may bring us back to earth and end this invasion.” Jason presses some buttons and the ship takes off and it heads for the sky. Mason said, “Great, we are in the sky. We need to find the president and we can get back to earth.”

Mason looks over the computer and he said, “Perhaps I can enter some kind of data directory and it may give us hints as to where the president is.” Jason pulls out a Zorkon hand gun and he aims it at Mason. Jason said, “You will not be saving any president in your life.” Mason said, “They probably regained control of you. I will save you again.” Jason fires the gun and Mason dodges and the blast hit the computer they are trying to break into. A voice said, “Automatic controls disabled. Manual controls, activated.” Mason said, “That must mean I can control the ship manually and just blast away until I find the place where Jason is being controlled at and where the president is.”

Jason runs to attack Mason and Mason knees him in the gut. Mason spins Jason around and Jason drops the gun. Mason grabs it and Jason runs for it. Mason bashes Jason on the head with it and Mason picks up Jason and throws him into the computer controls. Jason slowly descends to the floor and he is leaning against the computer controls. Jason said, “My head hurts and It feels like I have lost a fight.” Mason said, “You were being controlled again but I managed to get you out of their control.”

Mason flies the ships into the city where the army's stronghold is located. Mason receives a communication from the base. It is General Phazon. Phazon said, “Mason, land the ship at once and prepare to be brought into custody of us.” Mason said, “You and what army?” Phazon said, “I do not have time for your games. The Kiron are planning another lethal strike as we speak.” Mason said, “It is probably another test of my abilities like it was last time. I do not trust you at all. You tell me where Jason is being controlled from and you tell me where the president is located and I will capture them and bring them to earth. If you do not comply, I will destroy your buildings until I have what I want.” Phazon said, “We can't just give those things to you, you see..." Mason presses a button on the side of the steering pad and a giant ray gun comes out of the ship and it charges up and it aims for a random military building.

Phazon said, "Please, anything but that one." Mason said, "It must be of value then if you really don't want me to destroy it." Phazon said, "We will not surrender to nobody." Mason presses a green button on the ray gun control pad and it sends a ray beam down to the building and the roof disappears. Mason sees a telescope on the control counter in front of him. He uses it to look down and he sees the president locked inside of a cylinder filled with a red liquid. A cursor appears in the view Mason is looking at. Mason sees it is a touch screen. Mason touches the view of the president with his finger. The president dematerializes and he appears in the star-ship.

Mason said, "Now where are the controls for Jason?" Phazon said, "I will not speak of that." Mason said, "Suit yourself." Mason fires a ray beam down on a building and the building disappears without any remains left. Mason said, "Where are the controls for Jason?" Phazon said, "Never!" Mason aims for another building and he destroys it. Mason aims for another building. Jason jumps onto Mason and Jason starts attacking Mason in the face multiple times. Mason knees Jason in the face and Jason goes to the controls on the ship. Jason enters many commands and the ship said, "Self Destruct Sequence Activated!" Mason holds his gun out to Jason and he said, "You are not going to defeat me. I will destroy you first." Mason goes to the controls and he presses certain buttons on the system. Jason pushes him off and he presses buttons that make the security robots on the ship become activated. Mason sees the robots are those advanced soldiers. Mason blasts them down and he runs past Jason as the robots fire many missed shots. Most of them hit the computer system. The ship's voice said, "Self-Destruct System, disarmed!" Mason shoots a robot down and another one fired a shot at Mason. Mason moves and Jason walks in the way. Jason gets shot in the knee and falls to the floor. Mason shoots down the robot that shot Jason. Mason said, "Jason, are you alright?" Jason said, "Yes I am fine. The control device seemed to do something to my nervous system. I do not feel pain in my legs." Mason said, "I am taking that thing out of your mind when we get home."

Mason sees there is a red button in the weapon controls. Mason presses it and the ship concentrates its fire on the city below. It sent a bright-red beam down on the planet and it annihilates everything below. Phazon is sitting in his command center and he looks outside of his window and he sees the ray beam coming down. Phazon said, "Niptick, fromato, aldonto, ripton." The beam moves over the military command center and Phazon and all of his men are vaporized. Mason flies the ship away from the planet and he flies the ship to safety. Mason finds the wormhole and he plots a course for it.

Mason said, "I think you are okay for the time being. As you just saw, I destroyed everything down on the planet that was owned by the military. We still need to stop their forces on earth. It is quite remarkable that only a few day ago, our world was at peace and those military buildings on the planet Zorkon were still in tact. Unfortunately, that is nothing but a mere memory now." The ship heads through the wormhole and they see beautiful dark purple, red, blue, green and, black swirls that shatter like glass.

Chapter 10

Jason and Mason look out the main window and they see the earth. Earth is surrounded by alien frigates just like the one they are in. Mason said, "Jason, get to battle stations." Jason goes to the other controls and he presses random buttons. Mason presses buttons on the weapons screen. It asks what he wants to target. The screen shows the other alien frigates in orbit of earth. Mason presses all of them. Multiple ray beams come out of the ship and it fires on all of the alien ships in orbit. Mason presses the red button several times over and over again. It shoots down the command center on one of the ships. The front of the ship is completely destroyed and the ship slowly falls down to earth. Mason sees some smaller buttons on the control pad next to the weapons buttons. Mason presses those and it fires homing missiles. It attacks the other ships and it causes damage to them. They begin to give chase to the ship controlled by Jason and Mason. Mason uses the manual controls to do some elaborate flying.

Mason does some loops and he twirls around and the other ships try to do the same to follow him. Two of the other ships crash into each other and they are destroyed completely. Another ship shoots down the back engines of the ship controlled by Jason and Mason. Mason presses the emergency land button. The ship slowly descends to earth. Mason said, "Are the shields up?" Jason said, "I think they are." Jason presses buttons and he sees some controls that show the ship with a green belt around it. Jason presses buttons until all the green lights around the ship on the screen are full. Jason said, "The shields are up." Mason said, "Brace for impact."

The ship heads down towards earth and it falls at an incredible speed. It falls down to the United States. Mason positions the ship so it will land in San Francisco. The ship crashes in a lake and it barely misses the Golden Gate Bridge. Mason looks outside and he said, "At least the bridge is still in tact." Jason said, "Our city looks destroyed." Mason said, "It looks like this land has already been conquered by our adversaries. We will do what we must to reclaim it. We have plenty of weapons in the ship. We will bring as much as we can carry." Jason said, "What are we going to do about the president?" Mason goes up to the cylinder the president is being held in. Mason looks at the controls on it. Mason studies the button layout to figure out how to open up the cylinder.

Mason presses a button on the cylinder and it makes a bleep sound. Mason presses another button and the computer in the cylinder said, "Authorization required." Mason said, "Are there any dead robo soldiers in here we could use?" Jason said, "I will give you your authorization." Jason jumps to the cylinder and he kicks it and he takes out a gun and he shoots the side of the cylinder." Mason said, "Jason! Don't do that. You may get the president compromised or worse." Jason said, "What is worse?" Mason said, "You can become a national embarrassment." Jason said, "How else are we going to get him out? We are not going back to their home-world and this place is going down in flames as is." Jason and Mason watch as the cylinder cracks and the red liquid oozed out of the cylinder.

The president's naked body falls to the floor. Mason waves his hands in front of the president and he said, "Can you see or hear me?" The president slowly wakes up and he said, "We have no time to lose. The Zorkon army is planning a full invasion of earth and we will be slaves or dead if we do not do anything right now.” Mason said, “You heard him. We are going to fight these Zorkons and probably die trying to fight them. It is all we can do and we will be heroes either way.” Jason said, “He should put some clothes on first. Our people have suffered enough as is.” The president gets suited up and Jason and Mason arm themselves with assault rifles. They head out of the ship and are ready to take on the challenges that lie behind the next door.

Jason, Mason and the president walk through the streets of San Francisco. They see enemy soldiers. Jason and Mason shoot them down. Mason said, “We should go to my lab and I will treat the mind control device in Jason's brain.” The three of them head for the lab. In the lab, Jason lies down flat on a white soft board. Mason's robots wave their arms around Jason's head. Mason looks at his computer and it shows the mind control device in Jason's brain. Mason said, “I just need to activate these harmless sonic brainwaves and it will destroy the control device.” Mason presses the activation button and Jason starts to twitch. Mason looks at the computer and it shows the device is still in Jason's brain. Mason turns the intensity up a notch and Jason rapidly twitches.

Mason watches the computer and the scans show the device has disappeared. Mason said, “Success.” Jason gets up and he said, “Am I safe now?” Mason said, “You most certainly are.” They all hear a banging on the door to the lab. A robot soldier said, “Open up or you will be seized. Jason and Mason grab onto their rifles and they aim them at the door. The robot takes out a laser cutter and he cuts the door down and robot soldiers march in. Jason and Mason blast them down but they are outnumbered. Mason presses a red button on the wall and it summons other various robots in Mason's lab. The robots with arms pick up some of the alien's weapons and they start firing at the aliens. They shoot some down but the robot arms are destroyed by the soldiers in a matter of seconds. The robot soldiers surround Jason, Mason, and the president. Jason and Mason place their guns down on the floor and they put their hands on their head. The robot soldiers lead them out of the lab.

Chapter 11

Jason and Mason are surrounded by the soldiers outside. They even have battle robot suits with their guns aimed at the heroes. Mason reaches in his pocket and pulls out a remote. Mason presses a red button on it. A soldier shoots the remote out of Mason's hand. Mason's battle robot flies out of the lab and it lands in front of Mason. It uses its automated weapons to blast down the alien soldiers. Mason jumps in the cockpit and Jason and the president follow Mason in the robot suit. Mason flies above the soldiers and he shoots down their robot suits. He shoots down more soldiers that are shooting at him. Mason flies at a safe distance and he fires more shots down on the soldiers. A soldier comes out with a rocket launcher and he fires a rocket at Mason's robot armor. Mason crashes down to the surface and everyone in the cockpit rolls out. A soldier points his gun at Mason's face and he said, “You are not getting away from us. You have done more damage to us than good.” Humans with weapons came around and sandwiched the Zorkon forces and all of the soldiers are destroyed.

Mason said, “What... are these...” A human armed with a rifle that shot down the soldiers comes to Mason. Mason said, "Thanks, you are?" The soldier said, "I am from this town. A military depot was raided by the Zorkon army and we were ordered to do all we can to prevent our technology from falling into their grasp. I fight to defend this planet from alien invaders as I am Guy Peck." Mason said, "I would like to join this resistance force you have formed. I have some of their weapons that we can use against them." Guy said, "That is good. We will do simple raids and hit and run attacks on these aliens. They will get the message that we will never give up." Jason said, "I like the sound of that." Guy said, "In the southern part of the city, aliens live there and they chased all of the citizens away. We will do a raid there and we will weaken their defenses." Mason said, "I have been to their home-world and I crippled their attack forces there. They do not have any backup that I know of."

Jason and Mason suit up for battle and they jump in a van filled with resistance soldiers and they head for the southern part of the city. Jason and Mason look out their windows and they see the destroyed buildings and people struggling to survive. They come across a barricade of ruined debris. An armored truck shows up and it rams the debris and it creates a hole in the debris and the van drives through. They see an enemy camp and soldiers and robot armor lying around. Soldiers spot the van and the resistance members jump out and they fire at the soldiers. Mason jumps into one of their armored robots and he controls it. He fires missiles at their camps and at their other robots. He fires missiles at their weapon storage centers. He sees a soldier with a remote. Mason shoots the robot soldier down.

Everyone hears a rumble and they look up in the sky and they see a mother-ship. It is like the one Mason stole only it is much larger and it contains more fire power. It starts shooting ray beams down on the planet and it destroys buildings without leaving any remains behind. Guy said, "Retreat!" Mason ditches the robot suit and he presses the self-destruct button on it and it blows up completely. Mason jumps back in the van. The van rushes back to the base and it speeds down the street trying to dodge ray beams. A few of the beams come close to hitting the van. The van tilts over completely and everyone rolls out. Guy said, "Jason, Mason, We are hiding in a small room I made under a tree. It is the one behind your laboratory." More soldiers show up and they shoot and capture some of the resistance members.

The world has a bright orange sky and the ground is reddish orange. Evil soldiers that are humanoid and have long cigars sticking out of their mouths roam the streets with their weapons. Jason and Mason are sweaty and they are wearing blue pants and white undershirts that are covered in sweat. Jason and Mason are armed with two rifles. They run past these soldiers and they shoot some of them down and they retreat. Jason and Mason run through the burning remains of San Francisco. They see their destroyed house and they run for a hole in the bottom of a tree. Jason and Mason slide into the ground. They reunite with other people that are also fighting these weird soldiers. Mason said, "Our chances of seeing more days to come are very low. We need a miracle at this point if we are going to put those alien invaders to justice."

Jason peeks out of the top and he sees the invaders roaming around. The president said, "I would not want to be the last president of the United States." Jason said, "I hear aliens outside saying stuff. They all listen and they hear, 'We will execute our greatest threats.'" Jason looks outside and he said, "This can't be real." Mason said, "What is it?" Jason said, "It's Barnaby the Blue Dragon. It think they are trying to handcuff him. He is refusing everything.” The team hears the sound of a gun being fired. Jason said, “I don't think I need to say what just happened.” A soldier outside said, “I have an idea. We will fire our guns and shoot at random stuff. Maybe we will find where they are hiding.” The other soldier said, “I guess we can do that.” The alien robots shoot at random targets.

They shoot at the statue Mason has near his lab. The statue does not break at all. It does not even seem to be damaged. Mason said, “It seems as if my statue is made out of a material that is immune to their attacks.” Jason said, “Do you think we can beat them with this?” They hear soldiers say, “Commander, honor it is, sir” Jason and Mason hear Arquanis' voice say, “Soldiers, have you found Jason and Mason yet?” One of the soldiers said, “No sir we did not.” Arquanis said, “This is his lab. I will probe this place and I will see if I can find any clues on him.” Mason said, “I have an idea. This may not work but it is all we have. Do we have any planes available?” Guy said, “Yes we do.” Mason said, “Excellent. I will proceed with my plan.”

Mason gets out of the ground and he headed for Arquanis. Mason said, “Arquanis sir, I have reconsidered the choice I have made regarding you. I will join you and I will fight on your side.” Arquanis said, “Just when I thought you would no longer be able to redeem yourself. Where are the other resistance soldiers?” Mason said, “They are defeated sir. I defeated them.” Arquanis said, “I am glad to hear that, Mason. Come with me to the mother-ship and we will begin your training.”

Chapter 12

Mason stands in the throne room in which Arquanis sits down and observes everything that happens in the ship. Mason said, “I have learned a great deal of information on how to operate your battleships.” Arquanis said, “Good, I want you to command the weapons and make them point at every capital city and military stronghold in the world.” Mason said, “Yes, my master.” Mason stands on a bridge in front of a large computer. Below him, he can see crew members typing on computers and doing other types of work that may exist. An alien on the ship said, “Master Arquanis, we have received a message from the president.” Arquanis said, “Put him on.” The president appears on a large view-screen and he said, “Arquanis, the master and commander of Zorkon. I speak for all the people of earth when I say, we surrender.” Arquanis said, “I am glad to see you have finally come to your senses.” The president said, “I have a gift for you. It is a precious statue that was created by our greatest artist. It is yours. I am sending a plane to rendezvous with you and you will receive your gift from the people of your new planet.” Arquanis said, “I always had a thing for art from other people. I am interested in seeing what this is.”

A plane flies near the mother-ship and the ship uses its beam to dematerialize the statue and have it rematerialized on the ship. Arquanis sees that the statue is a statue of Mason. Mason said, “I carved this myself. Isn't it a beauty?” Arquanis said, “I never knew you humans were interested in creating sculptures of your own people. Why is there a large base on the bottom part you are standing on?” Mason said, “It depicts me standing from a high position so I appear to be majestic and a man of high importance.” Arquanis said, “Your figurative imagery will always intrigue me.”

Mason gets to his computer terminal and he enters the coordinates for every capital city on the planet. Mason lowers the shields. Arquanis said, “Why are you lowering the shields?" Mason said, "When people see us with low shields, they will not be scared of us because they think we are going to be good to them. It will make them feel better so they will not be in fear when we nab them of all they have." Arquanis said, "They already have surrendered the planet to us so I guess we are safe if we turn down the shields. Mason flies over Washington D.C. and he initiates the ray beam. The weapon charges up and just at the last possible second before it fires, Mason changes the direction of the ray beam so it hits and destroys part of the mother-ship. Arquanis said, "Mason, you fool! Guards! Get him!" Robot soldiers show up and they aim their weapons at Mason.

Mason stands still and he is not in fear at all. Mason said, "You've lost, Arquanis. You will not have the beautiful earth that you cherish ever so dearly." The base of the statue opens up and Jason and resistance fighters roll out and they blast the soldiers and they destroy all the main computers in the control room. The resistance soldiers aim their rifles at Arquanis and they strap Arquanis in a seat. Arquanis said, "Wait, don't you want me to die a horrible death?" Mason said, "You're right, I will make sure that happens." Mason controls the ship and he plots a course for the sun. Mason said, "I will see you on the flip-side." Mason and the other soldiers escape from the ship using escape pods on the sides of the ship. They escape and they arrive back on the planet safely.

Arquanis is strapped in his chair and he cannot move. All of the main systems have been disabled and he is on a collision course with the sun. The ship is set at its fastest speed possible. Arquanis sees a gun in front of his chair. He uses his feet to pick up the gun and bring it to him. He manages to use his gun to break his restraints. Arquanis jumps and he said, "Yes I am free. I now need to..." The mother-ship collides with the sun. Arquanis and everything in the ship collides with the sun.

Chapter 13

People of the earth gather around and they celebrate the victory over the Zorkon people. Repair crews work in the streets and they rebuild damaged buildings and other structures. Jason and Mason are in Washington and they stand in front of the remains of the White House. Military people and other important people gather around and the president makes a speech. He said, "Since the beginning of civilization there have been conflicts between different people. We have been save by a guardian angel. We have with us, the resistance members that fought against the Zorkon people. We also honor the legendary, Mason and his twin brother, Jason as they saved my life from the clutches of the Zorkon people and they have neutralized their offensive forces. I give them the medal of honor for their noble work." The president places gold and platinum medals on Jason and Mason and they turn around and they face the crowd. The crowd begins to clap.

On planet Zorkon, most of the planet's civilization and its military forces have been destroyed. The Kiron people have been successful at invading the planet. The Zorkon people declare defeat. The Kiron now rule over Zorkon and the people of Zorkon have a dark future ahead of them.

Jason and Mason return home and they stare at their medals. Mason said, "It is a shame I had to sacrifice my statue. That's okay, I can build another one." Jason said, "Clinton is awesome. I'm sure our last president wouldn't have done anything like this. I hope our next president is not just some jerk that starts wars with people because he is angry at them." Mason said, "That would be the day."

Somewhere far in space, an alien civilization lives on a green planet and they live like people in the stone-age. A meteor falls from the sky and it hits their planet. They crowd around to see what it is. It is the statue of Mason. One of the aliens said, "Our God, our creator has spoken to us and he has shown us what he looks like. We must prey and worship our God, an average man as he appears."
